Today's increasingly fast-paced lifestyle, where we want to make the most of every minute, means that women are seeking cosmetic treatments which provide very effective results in a record time. There is a growing demand for protocols which can provide very visible results that are more characteristic of medical cosmetic procedures, but which do not involve performing painful, invasive techniques which can result in subsequent discomfort that may disrupt the daily lifestyle.

CASMARA, within its category Professional Advance Technology, Casmara presents a line of highly concentrated biological protocols to be used synergistically with the microneedling technique, a very popular procedure and the new beauty obsession for celebrities.

What is microneedling?

Microneedling is an esthetic technique which makes multiple micropunctures in the skin in a safe, controlled way.

The rejuvenating results are spectacular from the first session as it allows the passage of the active ingredients to the deep layers of the skin, while activating the regeneration mechanisms and inducing the formation of collagen and elastin.

It is a very effective technique but minimally invasive and without any subsequent complications.

What are CASMARA biological ampoules?

They are concentrated formulas which have been especially designed for the microneedling technique.

They contain the highest concentration of active ingredients to guarantee the maximum dermatological response.

Also, they do not contain additional excipients such as preservatives or perfume and are sterile.

CASMARA biological protocols treat and improve the main signs of aging in the skin guaranteeing visible results from the first session without any subsequent complications.
